Crvena stijena (Red Rock) is a peak on the southwest side of Velje brdo, near Podgorica. It got its name from the color of the rocks that descend below the peak in the direction of the west, towards Tološi field.

There is a beautiful view of the city from the top of Crvena stijena, and nearby there are the remains of the fortress Crvena Stijena, Lužnica, which is believed to have been built during the Ottoman Empire.
